Welcome to the ENPHE Seminar 2019 in Bochum (Germany) | Inspiration around the corner!

The Division of Physiotherapy of the Hochschule für Gesundheit (hsg Bochum), University of Applied Sciences, is pleased to announce the European Network of Physiotherapy in Higher Education (ENPHE) seminar 2019, hosted by the Hochschule für Gesundheit (hsg) in Bochum, Germany.

The ENPHE Seminar 2019 comprises three days of activities. The first day is dedicated to a pre-seminar for all physiotherapy students in Europe (14.03.2019). The second and the third days (15.–16.03.2019) cover the special working group-style sessions addressing specific themes for professionals interested in higher education in physiotherapy in the European Region, covering important future issues concerning physiotherapy at a higher education level such as facilitation of learning, practice-based learning, interprofessional learning, direct access, internationalisation, research, and digital healthcare design in physiotherapy education. It also offers networking opportunities and keynotes addressing the new role of physiotherapy in 2030 and novel ideas on personal healthcare.

The seminar offers you many opportunities to debate on professional and educational issues of physiotherapy in higher education. Both educators and students are invited to attend the seminar. You will meet many colleagues and students from Europe and be inspired by the ENPHE network, gathering output together during the working groups and of course, enjoying the hospitality of the hsg in Bochum.

Through your participation, you will contribute to generating new knowledge and developing expertise that will help improve the quality of education in physiotherapy in higher education, especially the future requirements. Therefore, everybody is welcome to participate – both ENPHE members and non-members – focusing on the specific aims and producing specific outcomes.

We would be very happy to welcome ENPHE members and non-members to the pre-seminar and seminar. To find out more about the seminar and to register,

- download our ENPHE Seminar 2019 Bochum App (please use the QR-Code)
- follow us on Twitter: #enpheSeminar2019Bochum; #2019Enphe; #enphe2019; #enphe

Hope to see you in March 2019 in Bochum, with inspiration around the corner. With our best wishes,

Prof. Dr. Christian Grüneberg

About the venue „hsg Bochum“!

The ENPHE Seminar 2019 will take place at the Hochschule für Gesundheit (hsg), University of Applied Health Sciences. The hsg focuses on health and is situated on the healthcare campus of the state of Northrhine Westfalia (NRW) in Bochum, Germany.

Our institution was founded in November 2009. The hsg is the only publicly funded institution for higher education in the allied health professions that offers a complete portfolio of bachelor's degree programmes in healthcare. These university degree programmes, as well as the master's degree programme in Evidence-based Healthcare, are offered by the Department of Applied Health Sciences. Moreover, the Department of Nursing offers different nursing programmes. Last but not least, the Department of Community Health offers several degree programmes, including Health and Diversity Studies and Community Healthcare.

The unique education and research programmes at the hsg, as well as the social and the professional recognition of its physiotherapy graduates, make hsg a point of reference as a school of health science specialising in physiotherapy in Germany. Our concern for healthcare by taking a holistic view of the individual is the spirit in which we design and update our course programmes, which we invite you to discover. Our teaching approach aims to bring out the best in everyone.

Welcome to the Division of Physiotherapy at the hsg. Inspiration at the corner!

Bochum – The hidden capitol

We are proud to host the ENPHE Seminar in the hidden capital of the Ruhr Metropolis Bochum. Bochum belongs to the top-20 list of Germany's largest cities, so there is plenty of sights to see, for example, Deutsches Bergbau-Museum, the largest exhibition on coalmining in the world. One spot that everybody visits is the Bermuda3Eck (Bermuda Triangle), a strip of clubs, restaurants and bars, packed on weekends. Close by the main station is Fiege Brewery. You can take a tour of the brewery, and see for yourself how the beer is poured into the typical clip-lock bottles, where the 19th-century industrialisation meeting the digital-era processing is inspiring.

Inspirations at the corner. Have a look at: Hot Spots in Bochum or Metropole Ruhr.

About the Working groups

You find a short description of the working groups here:

1)Facilitation of Learning

This working group focuses on the use of different learning tools, such as blended learning, game-based learning and new learning environments for teachers and students. Three subgroups will work on the following themes: a) CPD (Continuous professional development) (open for teachers only), b) Get inspired; get moving and c) Picturing the future of physiotherapy (b and c: open for all participants and students).

2)Practice-based Learning

This working group's members develop solutions to assess clinical internships and to assist students/institutions in finding internships with other European partners more easily (open for all participants and students).

3)Interprofessional Learning

This working group's goal is to upgrade the interprofessional learning (IPL) competencies by sharing information, knowledge and skills in IPL education. Together, we have and share good practices. Professionals and students from different health disciplines often have little idea of what their respective roles entail. IPL increases this knowledge and provides professionals/students with an understanding of the interpersonal skills needed for liaison and communication. IPL has been shown to create teams that work together better and improve patient experience. The design of interprofessional education, as well as definitions in, facilitators of and barriers to (clinical) education, are described and discussed and will be embedded in an IPL platform. In Bochum, the working group will focus on further development of the IPL platform (open for all participants and students).

4)Professional Issues – Direct Access

This working group is dedicated to describing the roles and competencies in direct-access and extended-scope physiotherapy and working on the main issues for improvement. In Bochum, it will define the competencies for direct access at the advanced level. Currently, the group has them for the entrance level. The discussion is open for teachers, and we invite some student representatives (open for all teachers and students).

5)Internationalisation

This working group addresses the question of how internationalisation is practised at one's own university. All group members have developed an internationalisation strategy for special needs as a template for use at their own university. In Bochum, fine-tuning of the Jones model and the development of the toolkit will be the main issues. This is open for all who want to actively contribute to internationalisation as a general theme and to the realisation of our objectives (open for all teachers and students).

6) "Research"

This working group grants the Master and Bachelor Awards for students according to defined criteria. Additionally, this group has developed knowledge video clips to promote research competencies for physiotherapy students (open for all teachers and students).

7) Extra: "Digital Healthcare Design in Education and Clinical Practice"

Digital healthcare tools and designs have shown great potential to enhance health services' capacity to achieve the triple aims (enhance patient experiences, improve health outcomes and control or reduce costs), but their actual impact remains variable. This extra working group attempts to initiate the shift from a perspective focused on implementing new digital tools in healthcare settings to one emphasising service design, which will help teams (patient, provider and policy) execute more successful digital healthcare designs for the future (open for all teachers and students).

Find the way to the Hochschule für Gesundheit (hsg)

Germany, especially the Ruhr Metropolis and its hidden capital Bochum, has a well-functioning public transportation system with bus and train connections across the country.

Situated on the Gesundheitscampus in Bochum, the Hochschule für Gesundheit (hsg) in Bochum has bus and metro (Campus Line U35) connections close by. Air travel is an option, too. The airports within easy reach of Bochum – Düsseldorf, Dortmund, Cologne/Bonn and Münster/Osnabrück – are served several times a day by all major German cities. They also have excellent connections with international destinations.

For example, you can find your train and bus connections in Germany from the International Airport Düsseldorf to Bochum Hbf (Bochum Hauptbahnhof, the Bochum Central Railway Station), served 3–4 times every hour (35–40-minute travel time).

Public transport allows perfect mobility throughout Bochum and the Ruhr area. A dense network of buses and trains passing at frequent intervals gets you around in great comfort. From the Bochum Hbf, the metro (Campus Line U35, Hustadt direction) stops at the Gesundheitscampus train station (six stops from the Hbf). You can also browse the online journey planner Bogestra.
